RED STAND IRRITATING MINISTERS

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the Soviet Union seems to be pushing a propaganda drive in seeking admittance of Red satellite nations to the Geneva foreign ministers conference.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is very hopeful the Russians will abandon any such propaganda tactics so the conference can get down to fruitful negotiations.

Eisenhower had been asked to evaluate the Soviet efforts thus far to win seats at Geneva for Communist East Germany, Poland, and Czechoslovakia. Those efforts have kept the foreign ministers' conference from getting to discussion of real problems.

"Eisenhower replied it is very difficult to find out what is going on behind someone else's forehead."

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
GENEVA (AP)—The Western foreign ministers showed signs today of becoming fed up with the Soviet Union's insistence on adding more Red nations to the Geneva conference.

U. S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter planned to use his power as today's chairman to try to open the East-West debate on German issues for which the conference was called.

Aides said privately they were not sure he could pull off this maneuver unless the Soviet campaign suddenly eased up—something they did not expect.

A French spokesman said "we think this afternoon's session will be wasted" on further argument over Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko's proposal to give Poland and Czechoslovakia seats at the conference round table.

Ike and Dick To Attend G.O.P. Dinner June 8th

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon have agreed to help congressional campaigners in their efforts to raise a special fund of about $400,000.

Eisenhower and Nixon accepted invitations to be the chief attractions at a $100-a-plate dinner here June 8 honoring Republican members of Congress.

The story behind the dinner is one of reluctance by the party's old line contributors—who never cared much for Eisenhower's brand of "modern Republicanism"—to kick in with their usual financial support to the Republican National Committee.

Ordinarily the Republicans pool all of their receipts, without reference to which organization receives the original contribution. Of any $1,000 donation, for instance, the House Campaign Committee gets $270, the Senatorial Committee $150 and the National Committee takes the remaining $580.

Solicitors for the House and Senate committees reportedly have been running into resistance on the part of contributors who have said they would be willing to put up cash for congressional campaign needs but are unwilling at this time to see the major share of their donations go to the Eisenhower-dominated National Committee.

Explosion on Sun Causes Radio Static

SACRAMENTO PEAK OBSERVATORY, N. M. (AP)—An explosion on the sun, described as one of the strongest radio flares ever recorded, kicked up a magnetic storm in the earth's atmosphere Sunday.

Now it is dying out. Astronomers say they expect the last of it Thursday, along with the last of accompanying radio trouble.

Harry Ramsey, chief observer at this mountain top observatory in south central New Mexico, said, "The solar flare was about 100,000 miles in length and 50,000 miles wide."

Unarmed Officer Defies Desperate Man in Apartment

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A police officer handed his gun to a comrade early today and walked unarmed into the apartment where 30-year-old George Walters had barricaded himself and his four children.

Walters aimed a German-made P-38 automatic pistol at Acting Lt. Howard Vanselow, told him: "I'm not coming out. I want to die and I don't care who goes with me."

For tense minutes Vanselow argued that the children "have no part of this." At length Walters permitted the officer to hand them through the door to their mother in the hallway.

Then for 40 minutes more the two men talked in the apartment. Walters, keeping the policeman covered by the gun, told of being despondent over losing his job and separation from his wife. At one point Walters spoke of his mother. Vanselow offered to take him to see her.

Walters agreed. Vanselow shouted "I'm coming out with Walters and I don't want anybody to touch him."

Other policemen waiting outside the apartment scattered as the two emerged. Walters still aiming his pistol at Vanselow.

Wage Contract Talks For U.S.W. Recesses

NEW YORK (AP)—Wage contract negotiations for the steel industry were in recess today, to give management and union representatives time to reassess their positions.

Negotiators met for about three hours Tuesday but there was no announcement by either side.

Asked to comment on the session, David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, said "We cannot negotiate in the press."

"We have been meeting all morning and are negotiating carefully," said R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp. and top negotiator for the industry.

The present wage contract expires June 30.

IKE CALLS FOR BOOST IN GAS TAX

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower called today for quick congressional action boosting the gasoline tax, revising the costly wheat support and control program, and providing additional home loan insurance authority.

The President told his news conference a special message urging the three-way speedup would go to the capitol today.

The country's rising prosperity will be damaged, Eisenhower said, if the Federal Housing Administration's program is allowed to lapse for lack of the six billion dollar additional insuring authority he asked in January.

More thousands of men will be jobless, the President went on, unless new revenues are provided to keep the massive highway building program going.

He noted that the existing highway bill permits no more construction in any year than the funds available will pay for in that year.

Costs now are outrunning the income from highway-user taxes, and Eisenhower has requested that the federal gasoline levy be boosted from 3 to 4 1/2 cents. Congress has seemed little disposed to comply. Some legislators, he indicated they would prefer to meet the costs for a time from general revenues.

Eisenhower, committed to a balanced budget in fiscal 1960, ignored the latter possibility in his news conference remarks, and emphatically renewed his appeal...that...the budget be brought into balance.

As for the wheat surplus problem, the President said it is worsening instead of improving. The government will have 3 1/2 billion dollars invested in surplus wheat by mid-year, he said, and action must be taken speedily to revise the program.

The U.S. government, he continued, has always been for fruitful negotiations, and against using such conferences as propaganda platforms.

But the situation in Geneva, Eisenhower said, seems to have some of that propaganda—in it. During the news conference, the President discussed these other matters:

Khrushchev—No one has contacted him, Eisenhower said, regarding the possibility of a visit by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the United States.

A reporter noted that Vice President Nixon will visit Moscow this summer to open a U.S. trade fair. The newsmen asked whether the President would be favorable to the idea of Khrushchev's coming to this country to open the Soviet fair to be held in New York later this year. And, the reporter went on, would that open the door to the possibility of Khrushchev's attending a summit conference in the United States?

After saying no one has talked to him about such a possibility, Eisenhower remarked that it is up to the Big Four foreign ministers to pick a site for any summit session.

As to whether he would welcome such a visit, Eisenhower said (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Search Is on for Queen To Reign Over '59 Celebration

Firemen Have Snack Then Douse Blaze

WATERVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—Six firemen rushed to a downtown alarm—but paused before putting out the fire. First, they had a quick snack with a half-dozen boys roasting potatoes in the back yard. Then they turned extinguishers on the camp fire.

Somewhere in Warren County tonight is the girl who will soon reign as a Queen. No search for a Tibetan Dalai Lama could be more exhaustive than the search the Jaycees are now beginning to find the girl who will shortly be crowned Miss Warren County of 1959.

On the night of July 3 on a stage on the front lawn of Beatty School one girl will step forward out of a group of five and be crowned "Queen" with the lovely traditional tiara which has come to symbolize the fairest of the fair. This girl could be your daughter, your granddaughter, a classmate, a friend down the street... It could be you.

The Jaycees are soliciting the aid of all Warren County citizens in their search for this year's Miss Warren County. Anyone is eligible to nominate candidates for this high honor and all are urged to do so. Any girl who is at least 18 years old and unmarried is an eligible nominee. Nominations can be made by clipping out, filling out and sending in the Queen's Contest Nomination blanks elsewhere in this paper. The Jaycee Queen's Contest committee headed by Bob Eames and Hugh Higgins will contact all girls nominated.

As usual the preliminary judging, at which time the field of candidates is narrowed down to five finalists, will be held on the front steps of the Municipal Building on a date in mid-June which will be announced shortly.

All five of the finalists will receive a glittering array of prizes which are being donated by a number of Warren merchants. The full list of prizes will be disclosed shortly according to co-chairman Higgins.

But the big day—the day that is awaited with mounting (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Governor Asks For Streamlining Of Highway Code

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence today asked the Legislature to "streamline" the state's highway code to meet the problems of modern vehicle and road construction.

"Cars and trucks, and our highways themselves, have been modernized and streamlined," Lawrence told his weekly news conference.

"Outdated laws are hampering the swift completion and rehabilitation of many roads in Pennsylvania," he added.

The governor proposed legislation to speed up construction programs and payments to property owners by allowing the state to purchase entire tracts of land for road construction instead of purchasing rights to traverse land.

Wildlife Lab for Warren Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposed $75,000 recreation and wildlife habitat laboratory would be built at Warren, Pa., under planned 2 1/2-million-dollar federal program for new forest research facilities in nine states. Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss) urged the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday to approve the program.

Less than an hour earlier, another Capital Airlines, a Constellation, plunged over a 200-foot embankment while landing at the Charleston, W. Va., Airport. Two persons were killed and six injured.

Aeronautics officials said they believed it was the first time that one airline had two fatal crashes in one day.

The crew of an American Airlines plane with 52 persons aboard reported that an Air Force jet streaked in front of it at a distance of 45 to 50 feet Tuesday at an altitude of 16,000 feet near Bakersfield, Calif. The plane was en route from Houston, Tex., to San Francisco.

BALTIMORE (AP)—Government investigators probed the wreckage of a Capitol Viscount turboprop airliner today to try to find out why it blew apart with 31 persons aboard late Tuesday en route from New York to Atlanta.

Just 48 minutes earlier, another Capital Airlines, a four-engine Constellation, plunged over a 200-foot embankment at the Charleston, W. Va., airport, 300 miles to the west, as it came in for a landing. It immediately burst into flames. Two bodies were removed from the charred wreckage and six persons were hospitalized.

An official at the Civil Aeronautics Board said it was the first time in its history that a single airline had had two fatal crashes in one day.

The weather may have played a part in both crashes.

The Baltimore area accident occurred during a local thunder-squall.

Flight engineers and others said they thought the plane was caught in a severe updraft or downdraft which pulled off part of a wing. The fuel lines in the wing snapped spraying fuel into the burning engine. The quick combustion was a low order explosion which tore the plane to pieces.

Rain was still falling slightly at Charleston when the big Constellation came in for a landing at the airport, built by slicing off the top of a hill. The plane seemed to turn before it slowed down, witnesses said, and it tumbled off the brink of the hill. It immediately burst into flames.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Labor unions, through breakfasts for congressmen and other forms of lobbying, are mounting a growing drive to revamp sharply or kill the Senate-passed labor regulation bill.

John L. Lewis, the veteran United Mine Workers Union president, was to register his opposition today before a House Labor subcommittee.

The 79-year-old Lewis repeatedly has counseled against any new labor anti-corruption legislation. He says the problem is an internal one for unions to solve and, anyway, there are plenty of laws against embezzlement to curb union frauds if the laws are enforced.

Meanwhile the AFL-CIO, which supported the original Senate bill before amendments were added in the Senate, indicated a switch in sentiment. The AFL-CIO Executive Council is to meet here next week to go over the Senate version section by section.

NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP)—The 170 seniors of the College of New Rochelle voted Tuesday to contribute $200 apiece after graduation for use in raising teachers' salaries.

Rep. Albert W. Johnson, GOP floor leader, said Tuesday there are "a number of good Republican bills languishing in committee." He urged Democrats to clear them for floor action.

Among the proposals outlined by Johnson was one providing for establishment of a Pennsylvania higher education assistance authority to make loans to students unable to pay for a college education.

Other major legislation Johnson said should be passed would have the State Liquor Control Board refuse licenses in heavily concentrated or residential areas, and prohibit the Public Welfare Department from raising relief payments without the Legislature's consent.

BIG AIRLINER RIPS APART ON FLIGHT

By The Associated Press
Five airplane crashes in scarcely 24 hours cost an estimated 36 lives Tuesday and early today. Two airliners and three military jets went down.

Another airliner reported a near collision with a jet.

Three Air Force F100 Super Sabre jet fighters plunged into the Atlantic Ocean off Myrtle Beach, S. C. before dawn today on a night navigational and air refueling mission.

All three pilots were presumed lost.

Cause of the triple crash was not known immediately.

Air Force spokesmen said the three planes were seen hurtling toward the water, apparently without having collided. They had speculated earlier that two had collided and dragged down the third.

A Capital Airlines Viscount airliner disintegrated in the air late Tuesday near Baltimore. All 31 persons aboard were killed. The plane fell in a stormy weather area on a flight from New York to Atlanta.

Letters to Editor

Warren, Pa.
May 12, 1959

Dear Mr. Lowrey:

Voters of Conewango Twp. will have a very important issue to decide on May 19, regarding selling of alcoholic beverages, as will also Sugar Grove Borough and Elk Twp. It seems that with the numerous accidents prevalent, fatal and otherwise, and the connection of drinking with so many of them, people would realize the harm of drinking and not want to see any more drinking places licensed.

Some think the tax from liquor helps maintain the government. These people do not know that where studies have been made the revenue from liquor is less than one fifth the cost of control of the same, the apprehension and conviction of those who drink excessively, providing hospital and various care needed, maintenance of their families on relief and other costs.

Some think the fines from these arrests help the town, but generally the alcoholic is unable to pay and must take a jail sentence which also adds to the bill the tax paying citizen must carry. In this last issue between the vets and dries the legal cost of trial was thrown on the County. This is the first bill we will pay regarding The Conewango Referendum, but Warren County will pay dearly if the sale of liquor is increased. We will need a larger police force, more room in the jail, more room in the hospitals, and more churches and welfare agencies to cope with the havoc.

The drinking of liquor appears glamorous on TV and seems to create a feeling of liberty but it forces the non-drinker to pay along with the drinker and at the same time jeopardizes his safety.

Any thinking individual will not neglect his duty at the polls on May 19. I am writing in the interests of Warren County Citizens and hope you will give this letter space.

Thanking you kindly,
CONCERNED CITIZEN

Highway Budget Faces Review at Hands of Senate

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's $989,200,000 highway budget, featuring a request to increase gasoline taxes and motor license fees, faced a stern review today at the hands of the Senate Republicans.

The GOP-controlled Senate Appropriations and Highways Committees called a joint public hearing to put some searching questions to Highways Secretary Park H. Martin, architect of the road construction budget.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, declined to forecast the nature of the queries but he pointed to criticism of the budget already expressed by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA).

The governor has asked that the five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax be boosted to six cents, a $15-a-year automobile license tag compared to the present $10 and a tripling of the $1-a-year operator's license fee to raise 117 millions dollars in the next two years.

He said the money was needed to insure that Pennsylvania would qualify for an additional 15 million dollars in increased federal aid in the next two years.

The Chamber of Commerce recently said the governor overestimated by nearly 40 million dollars the amount that can be expected from the federal government in the next two years.

Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) House GOP Policy Committee chairman, termed the proposed gasoline tax boost as "completely wrong."

Ruling in Erie Civil Contempt Case Soon

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A ruling in a civil contempt hearing involving the striking International Union of Electrical Workers and the Erie Resistor Corp. is expected in about a week.

The hearing ended Tuesday after the union counsel rested without presenting any witnesses. Nineteen company witnesses testified earlier.

The hearing was ordered following picket line activities of IUE Local 613 last week. A court injunction had been in effect against mass picketing and picket line disturbances.

Judge Burton R. Laub denied union motions for a jury trial and dismissal of the case because of lack of evidence, and an objection against the use of films as evidence.

Meanwhile, Erie City Council urged continued negotiating sessions in an attempt to settle the dispute. Some 400 employees struck April 1 in a contract dispute.

Negotiations were slated to resume today under the guidance of state and federal mediators.

Increased Mailing Rate For Third Class Mail

Attention is called to a change of rate on Third-Class mail which became effective May 1, 1959. As of that date the minimum charge for any article of odd size or form became 6 cents rather than 3 cents as formerly.

By "odd size or form" is meant any article (mailed singly or in bulk) which exceeds 9 inches in width or 12 inches in length; or is less than two and three-quarters in width or 4 inches in length; also round, cylindrical, or other pieces of irregular shape and those with contents forming a hump or which are otherwise so uneven as to prevent stacking or tying in packages; also, articles in bags or addressed by tags, and any piece not rectangular in shape.

Patrons are advised that any mail deposited with insufficient postage is now forwarded for collection of the deficiency in postage from the addressee. It is important that correct postage be applied at time of mailing. It is also pointed out that if an irregularly shaped piece of mail weighs no more than one ounce it may be mailed first class at a saving—4 cents instead of the minimum 6 cents for third class.

If in doubt as to the correct rate to apply to any piece, consult a postal window clerk before mailing.

Mirrored in Our Times

The recent edition of "The Junior Occasional," Warren State Hospital publication, featured a poem written by a patient. So poignant was its content, we felt it should be passed on for all to read:

"My Wish"

Give me a home upon the sea
So at its peace my soul may be.

Then I can watch the swooping gulls
Soaring o'er high and low—swinging hulls.

To be alone I have no fear.
Nature's sweet overtones I'll hear:

The sudden crashing extra tone
Of waves against a shore of stone.

Of course I'd rather be with you.
Instead of one, let's make it two.

Perhaps by mingling joy and tears,
We'll mend the rift of parted years.

And taken from "Inklings" in the Lions "Roar"—this terse comment—"You cannot fool all the people all the time, but it isn't necessary; a majority will do."

Warren seems to have a sudden infinity for visitors from foreign shores of late—following close on the heels of the Jaycee sponsored men, here from Europe to study local business, come representatives from the Forest Service in Spain. With a translator from the Spanish embassy, the four gentlemen will be in the Warren area until next Tuesday. Their names have a wonderful fascination—here's one example—Jose Angel Carrera Morales.

It was explained that Carrera is Jose's father's last name; Morales, his mother's. Interpreter Martinez said that for formal use, only the father's name is used—but that the addition of the mother's maiden name serves as a double check and is a legal measure in Spain. Three of the foresters were married men with families; the fourth "still free." Other comments to his single status were confined to his native tongue—so we can't enlighten you any further. Warren will also welcome another distinguished visitor and guest speaker Monday.

evening at the YMCA annual meeting—David Tui Hia, National General Secretary from Burma.

Just as the community welcomes many a distinguished gentleman from over the seas, so does The Style Shop welcome the distinguished gentlemen who make their homes here. Just as Warren extends warmth and courtesy to visitors, so does The Style Shop offer courteous and complete service to men who prefer the well-dressed look. Just as Warren is a wonderful place in which to live, so is The Style Shop a grand place to stop.

Having dwelled somewhat on foreign shores today, why not talk about bringing a touch of the glamorous Riviera to the home front. And don't think that's far-fetched either. One may dream of vacationing on those famous shores—where glowing tans are acquired and the "bikini" taken completely for granted. Perhaps here only the completely daring attempt the bikini attire, but early suntans are possible (with each day of sunshine). The best way to do it is to find a concoction that will invite quick tanning yet, stop burning—one that's pleasant to apply and use—preferably non-greasy. We found it!

Acquire a Riviera tan early this year. Use Antoine sun tan cream created by Lanvin of Paris. Here's a rich, smooth cream that does all you desire it to do. You'll find Antoine at the Warren Drug Store right now, along with all other popular and well-known sun tan creams and lotions. Protect skin burning by consistent application of a tested product—look lovely and have fun!

Your Forest Ranger

L. E. Stotz

He stopped at the Ranger Station, one Saturday afternoon, to ask for a cup of coffee. He was an old logger from Montana, Idaho and the Douglas fir region of the Pacific Northwest.

"I ain't seen any timber yet in Pennsylvania," he complained. "They's nothin' but brush on them hills."

"You came through fifty years too late," I said. "This country has been clear cut, but it's coming back. Give it another 30 or 40 years of growth and fire protection, and we'll have some fine timber."

I offered him a chair in the kitchen, and put the coffee water on to boil. He sat down stiffly, and pulled a sack of tobacco from his shirt pocket. Fishing out a crumpled cigarette paper, he held it between two fingers. His hand shook, and some of the dry tobacco spilled on the linoleum as he rolled a smoke.

"Hope your missus don't mind tobacco on the floor," he muttered apologetically.

"It's all right," I said. "It just matches the linoleum. Maybe she won't notice it right away."

I poured him a steaming cup of coffee, added cream and sugar and then settled back in my chair to listen to the old logger.

He took me to the green aisles of a Douglas fir forest that was ripe for the saw.

"I pulled one end of the long est cross cut in the Fir Country. We stood on springboards higher'n your head and I nearly dragged my partner through the trees," he bragged. "All we did was fall 'em. Another crew did the buckin' if you didn't watch out, though, the fallin' crew next to you'd cut in on you an' get the big ones in your strip."

Then he took me back to familiar country in Montana—the Ponderosa pine and the Western larch country. Back to the South Fork of the Flathead River. To the Blackfoot Indian Reservation, and to the Little Big Horn where Custer and the 7th cavalry were annihilated by Chief Crazy Horse of the Sioux.

We talked of the high country in the Northern Rockies—of snow capped peaks. We fought a few of the old forest fires over again. Then I noticed that he hadn't touched his coffee yet.

"You better drink your coffee before it gets cold," I suggested. He brushed up like an old porcupine. "You're jest trying to get rid of me," he complained. But he emptied his cup.

As he walked out the door he turned on me. There was a twinkle in his eye. "People out west always have a cup of coffee to offer a traveler. I didn't need a cup of coffee now. I just

Sudanese Reds Meet Little Success in Cou

By WILTON WYNN

CAIRO (AP) — Communists in Sudan are trying to line up support for a coup to put in power an anti-Nasser strongman on the order of Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

So far the Reds have met with little success in their efforts to build up a popular front which would join in the opposition to President amal Abdel Nasser brand of Arab nationalism.

But Sudan is so wobbly politically and economically that Communist activities are not taken lightly by observers.

Scientist Says Children Being Harmed by Fallout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government scientist said last week "it is prudent to assume" that children's cancer deaths will increase as radioactive fallout from nuclear weapons tests increase.

This word came from Dr. Jack Schubert, senior chemist in the division of biological and medical research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago.

Schubert told a Senate-House Atomic Energy subcommittee recent studies have convinced him that "radiation doses so low as to approach the radiation levels from fallout and natural background cause a significant increase in childhood cancer deaths."

Schubert said his conclusion from the studies of cancer in children is that the maximum permissible levels fixed for radiation from fallout should be set much lower than they now are.

The subcommittee is conducting hearings on fallout problems. This session was devoted chiefly to effects of fallout radiation on body diseases such as cancer and also on long-term genetic effects.

Letters to Editor

Warren, Pa.
May 12, 1959

Dear Mr. Lowrey:

Voters of Conewango Twp. will have a very important issue to decide on May 19, regarding selling of alcoholic beverages, as will also Sugar Grove Borough and Elk Twp. It seems that with the numerous accidents prevalent, fatal and otherwise, and the connection of drinking with so many of them, people would realize the harm of drinking and not want to see any more drinking places licensed.

Some think the tax from liquor helps maintain the government. These people do not know that where studies have been made the revenue from liquor is less than one fifth the cost of control of the same, the apprehension and conviction of those who drink excessively, providing hospital and various care needed, maintenance of their families on relief and other costs.

Some think the fines from these arrests help the town, but generally the alcoholic is unable to pay and must take a jail sentence which also adds to the bill the tax paying citizen must carry. In this last issue between the wets and dries the legal cost of trial was thrown on the County. This is the first bill we will pay regarding The Conewango Referendum, but Warren County will pay dearly if the sale of liquor is increased. We will need a larger police force, more room in the jail, more room in the hospitals, and more churches and welfare agencies to cope with the havoc.

The drinking of liquor appears glamorous on TV and seems to create a feeling of liberty but it forces the non-drinker to pay along with the drinker and at the same time jeopardizes his safety.

Any thinking individual will not neglect his duty at the polls on May 19. I am writing in the interests of Warren County Citizens and hope you will give this letter space.

Thanking you kindly,
CONCERNED CITIZEN

Highway Budget Faces Review at Hands of Senate

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's $989,200,000 highway budget, featuring a request to increase gasoline taxes and motor license fees, faced a stern review today at the hands of the Senate Republicans.

The GOP-controlled Senate Appropriations and Highways Committees called a joint public hearing to put some searching questions to Highway Secretary Park H. Martin, architect of the road construction budget.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader, declined to forecast the nature of the queries but he pointed to criticism of the budget already expressed by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA).

The governor has asked that the five-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax be boosted to six cents, a $15-a-year automobile license tag compared to the present $10 and a tripling of the $1-a-year operator's license fee to raise 117 millions dollars in the next two years.

He said the money was needed to insure that Pennsylvania would qualify for an additional 15 million dollars in increased federal aid in the next two years.

The Chamber of Commerce recently said the governor overestimated by nearly 40 million dollars the amount that can be expected from the federal government in the next two years.

Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong) House GOP Policy Committee chairman, termed the proposed gasoline tax boost as "completely wrong."

Ruling in Erie Civil Contempt Case Soon

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—A ruling in a civil contempt hearing involving the striking International Union of Electrical Workers and the Erie Resistor Corp. is expected in about a week.

The hearing ended Tuesday after the union counsel rested without presenting any witnesses. Nineteen company witnesses testified earlier.

The hearing was ordered following picket line activities of IUE Local 613 last week. A court injunction had been in effect against mass picketing and picket line disturbances.

Judge Burton R. Laub denied union motions for a jury trial and dismissal of the case because of lack of evidence, and an objection against the use of films as evidence.

Meanwhile, Erie City Council urged continuous negotiating sessions in an attempt to settle the dispute. Some 400 employees struck April 1 in a contract dispute.

Negotiations were slated to resume today under the guidance of state and federal mediators.

MARKS ANNIVERSARY

Jamestown Post - Journal: John C. Shearman, who admits that he once was fired twice in one day hardly before his budding career got started, this week is observing his 50th year in the furniture manufacturing business. Mr. Shearman, who heads Shearman Brothers Company, founded by his grandfather and brother, marked the golden milestone with an optimistic comment on the future of the furniture industry. He said he foresaw a steady growth in the business. "It's got to be big," he said. "Our population will be probably double its size by 1960 with more people, more homes and more furniture." Mr. Shearman started with the company when he was old enough to do part time chores. He began as a steady employee in 1909 and there is a merry twinkle in his eye he recalls the time his father, the late Frank Shearman, fired him twice in one day.

Increased Mailing Rate For Third Class Mail

Attention is called to a change of rate on Third-Class mail which became effective May 1, 1959. As of that date the minimum charge for any article of odd size or form became 6 cents rather than 3 cents as formerly.

By "odd size or form" is meant any article (mailed singly or in bulk) which exceeds 9 inches in width or 12 inches in length; or is less than two and three-quarters in width or 4 inches in length; also round, cylindrical, or other pieces of irregular shape and those with contents forming a hump or which are otherwise so uneven as to prevent stacking or tying in packages; also, articles in bags or addressed by tags, and any piece not rectangular in shape.

Patrons are advised that any mail deposited with insufficient postage is now forwarded for collection of the deficiency in postage from the addressee. It is important that correct postage be applied at time of mailing. It is also pointed out that if an irregularly shaped piece of mail weighs no more than one ounce it may be mailed first class at a saving—4 cents instead of the minimum 6 cents for third class.

If in doubt as to the correct rate to apply to any piece, consult a postal window clerk before mailing.

Scientist Says Children Being Harmed by Fallout

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government scientist said last week "it is prudent to assume" that children's cancer deaths will increase as radioactive fallout from nuclear weapons tests increases.

This word came from Dr. Jack Schubert, senior chemist in the division of biological and medical research at the Atomic Energy Commission's Argonne National Laboratory, Chicago.

Schubert told a Senate-Atomic Energy subcommittee recent studies have convinced him that "radiation doses so low as to approach the radiation levels from fallout and natural background cause a significant increase in childhood cancer deaths."

Schubert said his conclusion from the studies of cancer in children is that the maximum permissible levels fixed for radiation from fallout should be set much lower than they now are.

The subcommittee is conducting hearings on fallout problems. This session was devoted chiefly to effects of fallout radiation on body diseases such as cancer and also on long-term genetic effects.

Mirrored in Our Times

The recent edition of "The Junior Occasional," Warren State Hospital publication, featured a poem written by a patient. So poignant was its content, we felt it should be passed on for all to read:

"My Wish"

Give me a home upon the sea

So at its peace my soul may be

Then I can watch the swooping gulls

Soaring o'er high and low-swinging hulls

To be alone I have no fear

Nature's sweet overtones I'll hear

The sudden crashing extra tone

Of waves against a shore of stone

Of course I'd rather be with you

Instead of one, let's make it two

Perhaps by mingling joy and tears

We'll mend the rift of parted years

And taken from "Inklings" in the Lions "Roar"—this terse comment—"You cannot fool all the people all the time, but it isn't necessary; a majority will do."

Warren seems to have a sudden infinity for visitors from foreign shores of late—following close on the heels of the Jaycee sponsored men, here from Europe to study local business, come representatives from the Forest Service in Spain.

With a translator from the Spanish embassy, the four gentlemen will be in the Warren area until next Tuesday.

Their names have a wonderful fascination—here's one example—Jose Angel Carrera Morales.

It was explained that Carrera is Jose's father's last name; Morales, his mother's. Interpreter Martinez said that for formal use, only the father's name is used—but that the addition of the mother's maiden name serves as a double check and is a legal measure in Spain.

Three of the foresters were married men with families; the fourth "still free." Other comments to his single status were confined to his native tongue—so we can't enlighten you any further. Warren will also welcome another distinguished visitor and guest speaker Monday evening at the YMCA annual meeting—David Tin Hla, National General Secretary from Burma.

Just as the community welcomes many a distinguished gentleman from over the seas, so does The Style Shop welcome the distinguished gentlemen who make their homes here.

Just as Warren extends warmth and courtesy to visitors, so does The Style Shop offer courteous and complete service to men who prefer the well-dressed look.

Just as Warren is a wonderful place in which to live, so is The Style Shop a grand place to stop.

Having dwelled somewhat on foreign shores today, why not talk about bringing a touch of the glamorous Riviera to the home front. And don't think that's far-fetched either. One may dream of vacationing on those famous shores—where glowing tans are acquired and the "bikini" taken completely for granted. Perhaps here only the completely daring attempt the bikini attire, but early sun-tans are possible (with each day of sunshine). The best way to do it is to find a concoction that will invite quick tanning yet stop burning—one that's pleasant to apply and use—preferably non-greasy. We found it!

Acquire a Riviera tan early this year. Use Antoine sun tan cream created by Lanvin of Paris. Here's a rich, smooth cream that does all you desire it to do. You'll find Antoine at the Warren Drug Store right now, along with all other popular and well-known sun tan creams and lotions.

Protect skin burning by consistent application of a tested product—look lovely and have fun!

Your Forest Ranger

L. E. Stoltz

He stopped at the Ranger Station, one Saturday afternoon, to ask for a cup of coffee. He was an old logger from Montana, Idaho and the Douglas fir region of the Pacific Northwest.

"I ain't seen any timber yet in Pennsylvania," he complained. "They's nothin' but brush on them hills."

"You came through fifty years too late," I said. "This country has been clear cut, but it's coming back. Give it another 30 or 40 years of growth and fire protection, and we'll have some fine timber."

I offered him a chair in the kitchen, and put the coffee water on to boil. He sat down stiffly, and pulled a sack of tobacco from his shirt pocket. Fishing out a crumpled cigarette paper, he held it between two fingers. His hand shook, and some of the dry tobacco spilled on the linoleum as he rolled a smoke.

"Hope your missus don't mind tobacco on the floor," he muttered apologetically.

"It's all right," I said. "It just matches the linoleum. Maybe she won't notice it right away."

I poured him a steaming cup of coffee, added cream and sugar and then settled back in my chair to listen to the old logger.

He took me to the green aisles of a Douglas fir forest that was ripe for the saw.

"I pulled one end of the longest cross cut in the Fir Country. We stood on springboards higher'n your head and I nearly dragged my partner through the tree," he bragged. "All we did was fall 'em. Another crew did the buckin' if you didn't watch out, though. The fallin' crew next to you'd cut in on you and get the big ones in your strip."

Then he took me back to familiar country in Montana—to the Ponderosa pine and the Western larch country. Back to the South Fork of the Flathead River. To the Blackfoot Indian Reservation, and to the Little Big Horn where Custer and the 7th cavalry were annihilated by Chief Crazy Horse of the Sioux.

We talked of the high country in the Northern Rockies—of snow capped peaks. We fought a few of the old forest fires over again. Then I noticed that he hadn't touched his coffee yet.

"You better drink your coffee before it gets cold," I suggested. He bustled up like an old porcupine. "You're jest trying to get rid of me," he complained. But he emptied his cup.

As he walked out the door he turned on me. There was a twinkle in his eye. "People out west always have a cup of coffee to offer a traveler. I didn't need a cup of coffee now. I just wanted to see if a stranger could get a cup for the askin' in the East," he said.

The last I saw of this fiercely independent old man was his erect figure walking up the road towards Kane. I thought of the trees that he had felled to make homes for a growing America. Now, he was an old man walking with his back to the setting sun, and peering wistfully at the homes of wood that he passed.

The logger who had helped to build America would never have a home of wood for himself.

THE OIL CENTENNIAL

If man is sometimes a cussed animal, he can also, at times, be an appreciative one. Part proof of this is born out by his predilection to commemorate any event of special significance to him, with birthdays and anniversaries high up at the top of the list.

This is a good year for people who appreciate commemoration. 1859 was a vintage year for important occurrences, Oregon statehood, the Colorado gold rush and the birth of the oil industry are examples, so that makes 1959 a big year for Centennial Celebrations. One of the most significant of these celebrations is scheduled for August 27 at Titusville. There, just 100 years ago, "Colonel" Edwin L. Drake completed drilling the world's first successful commercial oil well and the oil industry was born.

Drake could have no idea of the tremendous scope of scientific and economic advances his accomplishments would make available to the world in the century to come. For oil, used centuries ago by the Seneca Indians as a medicinal ointment, suddenly opened new worlds of comfort and convenience to man. Starting in 1859 as kerosene—an illuminant superior to the whale oil and coal oil in use at the time, oil eventually made possible the development of the internal combustion engine—and with that the birth of the automotive—and later the air—age. In the 20th Century, uses for oil have expanded rapidly and oil has spawned new industries right and left. Today oil is found in thousands of products ranging from asphalt highways to fine fabrics; from heavy duty lubricating oil to plastic kitchen utensils; from household heat to satellite fuel.

We can no more guess what wonders will come from this miraculous natural resource in the next 100 years than Col. Drake could predict the last 100 years. But we can be sure they will be great and that the lot of mankind on August 27, 2059, should be easier, more convenient and comfortable than ever before dreamed of.

As we said before, man does have the spark within him that enables him to appreciate significant occasions. And it's fitting that commemorative ceremonies have been scheduled at Titusville this year. Oil put Titusville on the maps of history. But Titusville, and its determined Col. Drake, put mankind on the road to unparalleled achievement.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviets, with help from the West, which let itself get tangled in childlike tabletalk — are turning the foreign ministers meeting into the kind of spectacle predicted by Premier Nikita Khrushchev. The ministers, he said, would get bogged in details. He wanted first a summit meeting of the "heavyweights." After they had reached agreements, he said, the ministers could get together to stew over the details.

Khrushchev finally consented to a Big Four foreign ministers conference — United States, Soviet Union, Britain, France — because the West insisted. The meeting was to open Monday. So what happened?

Before the ministers could even hold their first session they got snarled in an argument — over the kind of table to use — which for all practical and realistic purposes was strictly kid stuff.

It hardly added, in the eyes of the world, to the dignity and seriousness of the meeting.

The West, allied with West Germany, refuses to recognize the legitimacy of the East German Communist government, which is a Soviet satellite. But the U.S.S.R. wants exactly this kind of Western recognition for the East Germans.

While all this was being hashed over, the Soviets' Andrei Gromyko got the conference further confused. He demanded both West and East Germany be allowed to take part in the Big Four conference as full participants.

This is exactly what the West didn't want — for East Germany, that is — for fear that Western permission for East Germany to sit in as a full participant might be interpreted as Western recognition for East Germany.

To avoid such an interpretation, the West had been willing for the two Germans to sit in the conference room but with the understanding they would be merely consultants who couldn't speak unless asked a question.

A compromise was worked out. The two Germans couldn't be full participants, but instead of having to wait to speak until spoken to, both could ask permission to be heard on any subject.

So the first brief meeting of the Big Four was held and finished. Then Gromyko messed things up for the second meeting. This time he demanded that the Soviet satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia be allowed to take part as full participants.

The West objected. So the second meeting, Tuesday, broke up. It, too, was brief.

None of Gromyko's demands — that the two Germans, plus Poland and Czechoslovakia take full part in the Big Four conference — should have caused any surprise.

Last March, when the Soviet Union agreed to a Big Four meeting, it demanded the full participation for the two Germans and Poland and Czechoslovakia.

The reason Gromyko was able to snarl up the meeting now with this demand for those countries was that the Big Four foreign ministers hadn't worked out details before they met. They are tangled in the details now.

But the way Gromyko handled all this can be interpreted as a form of Soviet contempt for the whole idea of a foreign ministers meeting.

He could have made all his demands at one time on the first day. Instead, he stretched them out, delaying by that much any effort by the Big Four to get down to the business which brought them to Geneva, the discussion of Germany.

A news release from the office of Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield calls attention to the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's appointment as Postmaster at New Salem, Ill. It recalls Mr. Lincoln was appointed on May 7, 1833, as the third and last Postmaster of the village of New Salem, serving until the office was closed May 30, 1836. Thereafter the villagers picked up their mail at the nearby town of Petersburg. "More has been written about Abraham Lincoln than about any other American, but little attention has been paid to his three years and twenty-four days as Postmaster," Mr. Summerfield observed. "Perhaps this relatively little known but important phase of Lincoln's career may be explained by the fact that it may not have been as dramatic as the other phases," the Postmaster General continued. "Like the Postal Service itself, it is something taken for granted, despite its great everyday importance to all our people." Lincoln himself thought his association with the Postal Service well worth mentioning. In 1859, the compiler of the Dictionary of Congress requested a sketch from Lincoln, and Mr. Lincoln gave him the following: "Born Feb. 12, 1890, Hardin Co., Kentucky. Education defective. Profession, a lawyer. Have been Captain of Volunteers in Black Hawk War. Postmaster at a very small office. Four times a member of the Illinois Legislature. And was a member of the Lower House of Congress. Lincoln's three years as Postmaster at a very small office were among the pivotal years of his life," Mr. Summerfield noted. "He was twenty-four when appointed Postmaster — twenty-four years after his term as Postmaster, he was nominated for the Presidency of the United States, and he was elected to that office." A recently located register of Officers and Agents in the service of the United States reveals that Lincoln's salary as Postmaster was $55.70 a year. The traditions of the Postal Service tell of an additional incident regarding Lincoln's postmastership. Several years after the New Salem post office had been discontinued, a postal inspector — or special agent, as they were then called — dropped into town to call upon Abraham Lincoln, at that time a struggling lawyer in Sangamon County. The agent requested a settlement of a balance of something like $17 due the Government from the New Salem post office. Lincoln rose promptly from his chair, crossed his office to an old trunk in the corner and took out a cotton rag tied with string. Untying it, he produced the exact amount of money demanded. He had held the sum intact and untouched ever since his retirement as Postmaster. "I never use any man's money but my own," he said.

Frequency of lightning varies from state to state and even within areas of one state. In spite of this lack of national occurrence lightning is listed as the cause of nearly a third of all farm fires. Lightning damage is not confined to personal property for it is estimated more than 1300 persons are injured by lightning and 500 killed each year. About 90 per cent of this accident toll occurs in rural areas. Assistant County Agent, Blaine Schlosser, says farm buildings and homes can be protected from lightning damage by the installation of an approved, complete lightning protection system. This means more than just the installation of rods. Today's systems are engineered to collect static charges from the entire building and the things in it and dissipate the static into the air. For personal protection in a lightning storm consider these reminders: You're in danger on a tractor, near wire fences, under lone trees, or on hilltops and open spaces. Choose shelter in rodged buildings, thick timber, your automobile, or in a ravine or ditch. In your home—keep away from screen doors, fireplaces, open windows and metal objects.

James B. Stevenson, publisher of the Titusville Herald, who delivered an interesting talk last week at the State Hospital on the subject of "Pitfalls," has authored a pageant to be presented as the closing event of the Oil-ree staged by the Colonel Drake Council, Boy Scouts of America on May 22, 23 and 24. The Oil-ree is a part of the Centennial program marking 100 years since the discovery of oil. The pageant written by Mr. Stevenson is in the form of a pantomime with narration from behind the scenes. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schwartz of Titusville, who are prominent in the various Little Theater activities in Titusville, are serving as directors and the participants are composed of the Boy Scouts of the 3 troops in Titusville. Troops involved are Troop 90 of St. James Episcopal Church, Scoutmaster R. O. Pratt; Troop 91, Presbyterian Church, W. D. Kingsley, Scoutmaster; and Troop 92, St. Timothy's Catholic Church, Joe Phillips, Scoutmaster. The pageant tells the story of the discovery of Oil and is centered around the area of the Drake Well Park. The pageant will be presented at 2:00 p. m. on Sunday, May 24, and is open to the general public as well as parents and friends of Scouting.

The welcome announcement has been made that the famed Kane Kadets will continue in competition in area parades this summer. The Kane Fire Department has agreed to sponsor the Kadets after a move was instituted by other Kane organizations to assist the firemen with the project.

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

(© 1958: By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

COLIC FROM GALLSTONES
Biliary colic is painful and an attack is not readily forgotten. It stems from sudden tenseness of the wall of the gall bladder or the bile duct, usually as a result of spasm or of blockage by a stone.

Pain is steady and so intense the victim tosses and turns, hoping to find a position that offers the slightest comfort. The worst of the bout is over in 10 to 40 minutes but residual soreness may remain for a day or more.

Each attack of colic means that a stone, in trying to escape from the gall bladder, has wedged in the biliary passage-way. It is too large to go through the tube that leads to the intestine. In some instances the stone is forced out from the gall bladder when this organ is stimulated to contract by a meal containing fats.

But colic often starts in the middle of the night without any obvious dietary reason. Pain generally is centered under the ribs, on the right side of the abdomen. Taking a deep breath hurts and the area is tender to the touch. Many are nauseated and vomit when distress reaches its height.

Anyone with gallstones who has had one or more attacks of colic should have the gall bladder removed. There is no better way to cure and, unless surgery is done, the individual may anticipate further bouts of colic, not to mention complications. Gallstones cannot be dissolved by any known substance; operation is needed.

Relief can be obtained during the acute siege with pain killing drugs such as Demerol or morphine. Atropine is added to the mixture to ease spasm. Relaxation is induced also by applying a hot water bottle or a heating pad and remaining quietly in bed. Between attacks, the person who harbors stones is comfortable but he should not be lulled into the mistaken idea that his troubles are over.

Dr. Van Dellen will send additional information on gallstones or on any other medical topic, if stamped, self-addressed.

CRUTCH FALSY
H. T. writes: I had to use crutches for a while because of a broken ankle. My left arm and fingers became numb and the doctor said I have ulnar compression. Most of this numbness has disappeared during the last four months except on the side of the hand and the pinky. Do you think feeling will return to these parts eventually?

REPLY
Yes. Should you ever have to use crutches again, bear the weight on the palms of the hands, not on the amputations.

MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS
L. D. writes: Does multiple sclerosis have a hereditary aspect?

REPLY
Multiple sclerosis occurs in more than one member of a family more frequently than could be accounted for by chance. The disease is not transmitted as a genetic trait but as a susceptibility to the unknown causative agent.

SORE TIP OF SPINE
R. L. writes: Can a painful tailbone be due to arthritis?

REPLY
It could be, but a more likely cause is injury to the coccyx or the soft tissues surrounding it. Coccygodynia often follows sitting down suddenly or sliding downstairs. Sometimes trauma to this bone can be traced to faulty posture.

LIFE WITH ONE ADRENAL
J. M. writes: Can a person live with one adrenal gland?

REPLY
Yes. If it is necessary to remove both adrenals, the individual can live provided the hormones these glands produce are replaced by large doses of cortisone or hydrocortisone.

Today's Health Hint—
Don't neglect measles. This disease caused more deaths in 1957 than did polio.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
LONDON (AP) — American hopes of widening the market here for its consumer goods seem likely today to be deferred again. The strength of the pound sterling and the swelling of British gold reserves well above the danger point give U.S. manufacturers cause to hope.

But top officials at both the British Treasury and the Board of Trade say the time isn't ripe yet. Their view: Confidence in the pound had been restored, but until reserves are built even higher caution will be the British rule.

The British government holds that the balance of trade with the United States under existing curbs on many consumer goods is still too precarious to risk further liberalization now. But they insist that is their next goal now that currency convertibility is being achieved. And, of course, they add that the day would be hastened if the United States would buy still more British goods.

Also a treasury top man says the British consumer is unpredictable. The British woman's already high interest in American styles might lead to a rush of buying if given free rein. Or British youths might take a flash yen for American style suits — even a sudden fad for some popular singers could bring in so many American phonograph records that it could mean a drain of a sort on the balance of trade with the dollar area.

American officials here suspect there may be other reasons for the British dragging their feet on relaxing curbs on American goods. The Board of Trade official says that further relaxation of imports from the dollar area is coming, but it will be on capital goods—machinery and the like — and not on consumer items.

Here are examples of what the would-be American exporter is up against if he wants to sell here: Electric refrigerators and parts can be imported to a total of $215,740 a year but subject to a duty of 15 per cent. Washing machines pay the same duty and the total value allowed is $134,475 a year. Vacuum cleaners can come in up to $188,350 worth.

Entries in Art Show Accepted Tomorrow Only

Committee members for the annual Talent Recognition Art Show at the Woman's Club May 18, 19 and 20 are busy with their final preparations and have a number of reminders for both exhibitors and the public.

Entries will be received one day only, tomorrow, May 14. Mrs. S. W. Blackman, chairman of this committee, has sent entry blanks to all previous exhibitors and to others requesting same. All persons exhibiting are reminded to bring their work to the auditorium of the Woman's Club between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 9:00 p. m. on that date.

On Friday, the hanging and decorating committee, headed by Mrs. K. Pearson Eaton and Mrs. Joseph DeFrees, will do its work. This is a tremendous job, for they try to hand the pictures so that each one shows to best advantage. This is important for fair judging and for pleasant viewing by those who attend the show.

After the judging on Saturday, the exhibit will be open, free, to the public for three afternoons and evenings, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, May 18, 19 and 20, from two o'clock in the afternoon until nine o'clock in the evening of each day.

It is anticipated this year's Talent Recognition Art Show will be an even finer one than in previous years, for, thanks to the Warren Art Group, much new talent has been discovered, encouraged and developed.

Dance for Cancer Fund

Seen in the accompanying See Studio Photo are Pat Lanman, chairman of the Y-Teen Turnabout Dance held Saturday evening in the YWCA gym; Col. Edward Ayres of Sheffield, county chairman for the 1959 Cancer Crusade, and Mrs. Ayres.

The Y-Teen had agreed to contribute a portion of their ticket take to the Warren County Unit, American Cancer Society, and it is learned they will present the sum of $30 this week, a most welcome gift to the local unit.

A May Circus theme had been selected for this year's dance and was perfectly carried out by the committee, beginning with crepe paper decorations which transformed the gym into a Big Top and to realistic white posts which held it in position. Table decorations continued the theme, with miniature sawdust ring centers, wild animals, confetti and circus napkins.

Cookies, punch and mints were served the hungry dancers, as Emmie Emerson and his band tapped out the rhythms for dancing from 8:30 until 12:30. Spring frocks were the choice of the girls who took turnabout and escorted their young men to the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Spattifor attended as chaperones.

The Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Dible, who formerly served Bethel Evangelical United Brethren church here and are now living at Penny Farms, Pa., spent a short time last week with their daughter, Mrs. Arlene Caldwell, 707 1/2 Carver street. Spanish Ballet Troupe Signed By the Jaycees

The internationally-renowned Roberto Iglesias Spanish Ballet Company will headline the Jaycee Concert Series in Warren for the 1959-60 season, it is announced by Dr. Lawrence Krespan, chairman of the music committee.

The Iglesias troupe, which is managed in this country by the famed impresario Sol Hurok, scored an immediate and overwhelming success when it first toured this country last year. The attraction will appear in Warren on October 9, immediately following a three-week run on Broadway.

Tickets for the Jaycee Concert Series will go on sale next Monday according to Jeff Reidel, who is supervising the membership subscription drive. Adult season tickets will be sold for $8.00 while student tickets are priced at $3.00, including tax.

The artists' selection committee, which is composed of Jaycees and interested citizens, hopes to present a four-concert series next season. The number of concerts will depend, however, on the outcome of the membership drive which begins next week and extends until June 1. Information about the other three attractions and artists being considered for the series will be announced shortly.

In commenting on the signing of the Iglesias Company, Chairman Krespan said, "We are extremely fortunate to have secured this excellent group, which is one of the most exciting and accomplished dance companies appearing today."

Talented Cast of Near-Hundred in Variety Show for PTA Scholarship

Rounding out the season of PTA-sponsored plays, which have been presented as benefits for the Scholarship Fund, will be an all-local talent Variety Show on the stage of Beatty Junior High School at 2:00 p. m. Saturday.

This show, under the capable direction of Mrs. John O'Hara, replaces the production of "The Wizard of Oz," originally scheduled for April 18, and will have a cast of upwards of 100 boys and girls participating.

Mrs. O'Hara has so planned and executed the presentation that it will be staged in three separate scenes, with narration. When the curtain goes up on Scene One, the audience will be whisked into a TV studio, where a group of talented young children are awaiting coveted auditions.

The flaming red head of Murray Foreman will be seen jutting from behind the piano as he accompanies the performers. Russell Rudolph will be the casting director; Bob Rice, the office boy, and Patil O'Hara, the secretary.

Auditioning will be Susan Lawson, opera singer; Danny Smith, drummer; Ann Lewis, dancing teacher, presenting students Karen North, Rosemary Reiff, Patty Simmons, Nancy Morse, Mary Sandblade, Mary Lauffenberger, Sylvia Chichester, Beck Harper, Lorraine Betts, Linda Weirich, Becky Berdine, Becky Potter, Marya Yurick, Becky Crump and Lynn Wendelboe.

Others auditioning in this scene are Diane Anderson, Cecilia Smith and Pepper Oberg, novelty song and dance; Nancy Coyle, impersonation; with vocal numbers by Mary Jo Conti, Faith Ann Harland, Betsy Werner, Bruce Knorrp and Wendy Werner. Dance specialists will be done by Marya Yurick, Robbie Schorman, Molly Oriole, Sue Lowe, Patty Lowe and Jeannie Anderson, Marcie Newmaker and Jane Cashman.

From the Beach Dance Studio will be soloists Sally Newhall, Kay Gorenflo, Judy Look, Nancy Niederer and Linda Loomis; with Floris Whitmore, Wanda Knopf, Fay Lincoln, Debbie Wykoff, Frances Germonito, Susan Schumann, Patti Reed, Nancy Lowe, Cathy Boyer, Karen Chiodo, Stephanie Mikan, Linda Guifre and Barbara Larson in a special group number.

When Scene Two begins, the audience is across the street from the studio in a park, where a comic baseball ballet is being enacted by talented Jeannie Anderson; melodious voices of the All-Girl Choir are heard in the familiar strains of "Thumbelina," taken from the original Hans Christian Andersen fairy tale, with little Kay Gorenflo doing the ballet turns.

Russell Rudolph and Danny Otterbein, with guitars, entertain with their version of "Tia Juana Jail"; a trio from Warren Boy Choir will sing "Standing On the Corner," while the girls really do go by. Attention is next called to a little gypsy, a girl and a monkey, portrayed by Arch Anderson, Karen Wagner and Lloyd Coates.

Barbara Brindis, of the Jaycee-sponsored Starlettes, does a bit of fancy baton twirling; a clown pantomime is followed by a Boy Choir ensemble in songs from "Oklahoma." The curtain rings down with Susan Lawson, Warren High School senior, singing "Autumn Leaves," with one verse in French.

The third scene shifts back to the TV studio and a visit to the Dick Clark Show, dancers and singers presenting the day's top tunes and vocalists: Danny Otterbein as DJ Clark, with a little assist from Vicki Rice, Connie Mealy, John Check, John Haer, Tony Guffre, Bill Rice, Connie Mealy, John Check, Molly Oriole, Penny Abel, Dave Jones and Herschel Shulman. A real show-stopper will be Frank Nichols as Elvis Presley.

Those students not holding season admissions may secure tickets at the door and a capacity house is anticipated.

Measure Would Control Mobile Homes in State

HARRISBURG (AP)—Definitions and regulations for house trailers, mobile homes and office trailers would be written into the vehicle code by a series of eight bills introduced in the Senate.

Present law refers to trailers designed and used exclusively for living and does not make the separate distinctions.

Sen. George N. Wade (R-Cumberland) said the proposals were introduced Monday in "recognition of a new industry which has grown up so fast in recent years." He said the measures would provide regulations and controls for the growing industry.

South bid three spades because he thought his partner was playing a special convention in which you raised your partner's jump shift with one of the three top honors. He bid six hearts because he had come to the party to bid.

West opened the three of spades and South saw that he was in an impossible contract unless he could put over a neat swindle. Anyway, he won East's ten with the king, played a trump to dummy's king, led the deuce of diamonds and stuck in the nine.

West won with the king and led another spade. He was sure his partner would ruff it. Instead, South won with dummy's nine and discarded a diamond. A trump to the jack and another back to dummy's ace and South was ready for the next step in bringing home the slightly tainted bacon.

He discarded his last two diamonds on the ace and queen of spades and led the jack of diamonds from dummy.

East ducked but it did him no good. South knew where that ace of diamonds was and discarded a low club. The jack of diamonds held and now South was able to spread his hand and chalk up his richly undeserved slam.

PRR To Purchase 23,500 New and Rebuilt, Freights

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad, though anticipating poor business for 1959, today announced it will purchase 23,500 new and rebuilt freight cars this year, the largest such program ever undertaken by one railroad over such a short period.

President James M. Symes told the annual stockholders meeting that "1959 will not be a good year although it should show a very decided improvement over 1958."

Symes said that the freight car purchase program, costing over 215 million dollars will not impair the financial situation of America's biggest railroad, and in the long run should be beneficial.

"These acquisitions are being taken care of in the form of debt or long term lease obligations," Symes said. "Such cash as is required will be made available from the sale of scrap through dismantling old, worn out cars."

The PRR president also disclosed that the railroad plans to purchase more diesel locomotives costing about 10-million dollars.

Symes said that in 1958, the railroad was "barely able to keep in the black for the year" earning only 3½ million dollars.

Symes said the PRR's first quarter results for 1959 "have likewise been extremely unsatisfactory with a deficit operation of $6,300,000."

In the first quarter of 1958, the PRR had a deficit of nearly 15-million dollars.

Of the freight car orders, 111,500 will be built at the PRR's Altoona, Pa., works. The American Car and Foundry Co. will supply 4,000, half of which will be leased to the railroad. Another 2,000 will be built by Pullman Standard at its Butler, Pa., plant, and 300 by the General Steel Castings Corp., Granite City, Ill. Symes reported that orders or financial arrangements for the remaining 6,700 cars have not been completed.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Remarks a newspaper columnist gets tired of hearing—or overbearing:

"Be careful of what you say—or ole 'Big Ears' will have it in the newspapers, the next thing you know."

"You mean that's all you do is write just one piece a day? How in the world do you spend your spare time?"

"I've got a young nephew that doesn't know what to do with himself. How can he go about getting a job like yours?"

"Personally, I don't have much time for reading, but my wife says she likes your column very much. What's it about?"

"Personally, I don't find much time for reading—just the really important things. But my husband says he gets a laugh out of your column. What's it about?"

"If you can't help me get a parking ticket fixed, just what does the power of the press really amount to?"

"Where do you get all your ideas—steal 'em?"

"What's life like on a free pass? Do you guys ever pay your way in to see anything?"

"Well, how's the ole press agents' lifesaver today?"

"It's a really cute idea. We're holding a canary singing contest to introduce a new bird food, and if you'll just agree to serve as a judge you'll find plenty of really cute material."

"What if it is made up? Do you think a thing has to be true to be interesting?"

"I been reading that Khushchev is sick. How sick is he actually?"

"Don't tell me a guy in your position doesn't get a really good Wall Street tip now and then. How about passing one on, ole palsy walsy?"

"Dear sir: You cur. Why are you always picking on women in your column? Are you mad at your mother? (signed) 'Angry Wife.'"

"Dear sir: You jerk! Why do you always give wives the best of it in your column? Are you a man or a mouse in your own house? (signed) 'Old-fashioned Husband.'"

"Sure I know it's a tough job and you could use a raise. But look at it this way: There are at least six guys on the copy desk who are tired of writing headlines—and would love to have your problems—and your working hours."

Snapshots Are Fun
MCINTOSH STUDIO

RADIO and TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Stokey at 41, is a top candidate for the title of the dean of television. Certainly the game program, Pantomime Quiz, over which he presides, must be the oldest show in the medium.

Based on the ancient game of charades, Pantomime Quiz with Stokey as activities director, made its debut in Hollywood in 1939—before one camera, and was seen on perhaps 20 TV sets. Stokey was a show-struck student at Los Angeles City College given a chance to put on a program: Notice was short, so Stokey just rounded up a bunch of friends and they played the game they had been playing for fun.

"We wore purple makeup and brown lipstick," recalls Stokey, "and it sure seems a long time ago."

Twenty years later, Stokey is still directing the same game. The venerable program, a perennial summer replacement on network TV, now has a permanent daytime niche. Pantomime Quiz is on ABC weekdays and, if all goes well, won't disappear in autumn. However, just to keep up the record, Stokey and company will also be a summer replacement—for the Voice of Firestone.

Mike's original splash into TV lasted a magnificent week. When he got out of college, he joined NBC as a radio announcer, left for wartime military service.

"When I got back," he says, "I was sure somebody would have figured 'The game'—that's what it was called then—would be a natural for TV. But nobody had, so I picked it up. First we were on a local Los Angeles station, then expanded to a regional network. And then, when those fuzzy kinescopes came along, we finally got all the way across the country to New York."

That was 10 years ago, and since then Mike and his teams of enthusiastic show business names have turned up each summer season.

Stokey won't change the basic formula of the show. He usually works with competing teams of four—all ardent gamblers who also have well-known names. In its daytime format, however, Stokey plans to mix up show biz personalities with participants from the audience. They'll be picked the day before the show to give Stokey a chance to teach them the signals.

IS TIME MOVING BACKWARDS?

Those Old Days Weren't So Good After All

BY GALE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

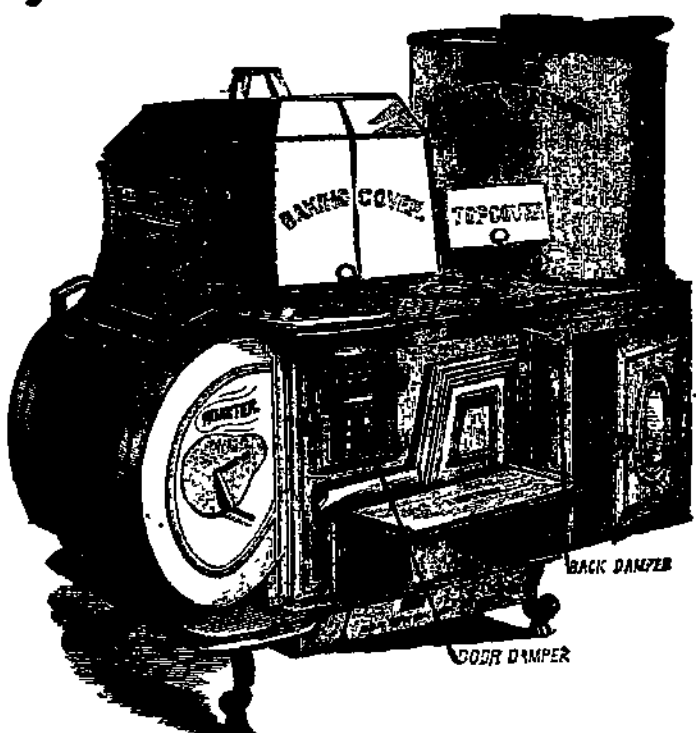

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Girl—are you sick of keeping house? Tired of the kids? Would you gladly swap every electrical appliance in the place for the servants that made Grandma's life easier?

Well, cheer up. Grandma felt exactly the same way. You yearn for the good old days when things were different. And back in the good old days, Grandma was yearning for the good old days when things were etc, etc.

This is on the word of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, who was no slouch at keeping house. But she didn't much like it, either. She was the gal who cleaned house with one hand and wrote "Uncle Tom's Cabin" with the other.

In 1869, Mrs. Stowe dashed off a book called "The American Woman's Home." It should have been subtitled "And What Was Wrong With It," because in Mrs. Stowe's opinion, practically everything was.

Not a girl to mince words, Mrs. Stowe came right out and said that women had better get used to doing their own housework since the available servants were absolutely no good. "They are lazy," she adds, "and they are also raw and inexperienced, slovenly and given to demanding a raise right before or in the middle of a large dinner party. But that's not all. American girls are not trained to keep house, and so can hardly be expected to train servants properly," Mrs. Stowe says.

"Efficiency stove" of Mrs. Stowe's day kept 17 gallons of water hot at all hours, baked pies and puddings in the "back closet," heated flatirons under the rear cover, baked bread in the oven and cooked turkey in the tin roaster.

"Our land is now full of motorpathic institutions to which women are sent at a great expense to have hired operators stretch and exercise their inactive muscles. They lie for hours to have their feet twiggled, their arms flexed and all the different muscles of the body worked for them because they are so flaccid to be much tied down to family affairs." It has a modern sound, hasn't it?

"The modern girls, as they have been brought up, cannot perform the labor of their own families as in those, simpler, old-fashioned days; and what is worse, they have no practical skill with which to instruct servants, who come to us as a class, raw and untrained. In the present state of prices, the board of a domestic costs double her wages, and the waste she makes is a more serious matter still." Oh, for the good old days!

What was the solution? Well, Mrs. Stowe had one, of course. She was a woman well in advance of her time. A democracy, she said, could not expect to have a servant class.

So, Mrs. Stowe said, keep your household small and compact enough so that you can handle it yourself. Learn how to do your job and do it well, with pride and efficiency and never, never look down on it as beneath you. Then, if you should ever have servants, she explained, you can do anything they can do, only better.

There was just one spot in which the industrious Mrs. Stowe flinched and turned a trifle pale. That was when she took another look at the family wash, looming in great piles each week.

"Whoever sets neighborhood laundries on foot will do much to solve the American housekeeper's hardest problem," was her hopeful comment.

Atomic-Powered Airship Predicted by Goodyear

WASHINGTON (AP)—A huge atomic-powered airship three times as big as the blimps now in use could be put into operation by 1963, the Navy has been informed.

Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and Goodyear Aircraft Corp. said the 4½-million-cubic-foot nonrigid airship could be launched before a nuclear-powered airplane is flown, thus becoming America's first aircraft to harness the energy of the atom.

Goodyear officials said the ship could operate at speeds of 80 to 92 miles an hour and with virtually unlimited range.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Still as banned as ever, Erskine Caldwell appears to be mellowing toward those who ban him.

A little, anyway. Perhaps it is his ailment that has softened his indignation. He suffered a painful calcification of his hand and underwent an operation to cure it. The hand must remain in a cast and elevated, so Caldwell's vast literary output is stopped temporarily.

"I've always typed with two fingers—couldn't possibly dictate," he says.

Caldwell and his lovely wife had come here from their San Francisco home to discuss filming of his 35th and latest book, "Claudelle Inglish," with Warner Brothers. So far no area has banned this one, but it's early yet.

"I had to change the title for England because the spelling of Inglish was considered to be an affront over there," he reported. "Also in France, because it was considered insulting to the memory of a writer named Claudel who had died recently."

The chronicler of raw life in the South said he is banned regularly in Boston, but "Detroit is worse. There they have three members of the police department who pass on all the books, plays and movies. They've got to ban something, in order to justify their jobs." Caldwell's treatment of Negro-white themes has caused him to be banned in South Africa. Even his native Georgia gives his works the heave-ho at regular intervals, he said.

Moving around is part of Caldwell's nature. He has lived all over the East and West coasts, and he may move anywhere next. Anywhere but Chicago.

"Chicago is a money-maker's town," he said. "It holds nothing for me."

"Besides, Chicago is the only major city in the United States where 'Tobacco Road' couldn't play."

Yale football coach Jordan Olivar never played the sport in high school. He was a soccer player.

Eddie and Liz To Honeymoon On Yacht Off Spain

Taylor-Fisher BJT
By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor, the Romeo and Juliet of the jet age, winged today toward a honeymoon in Spain.
The famed newlyweds spent their wedding night sitting up in a TWA jet airliner speeding from Los Angeles to New York.
They had to spend a few hours before they could board another non-stop flight to Madrid. There they are to make another quick change into a charter plane for Barcelona, where a honeymoon yacht will meet them.
The cruise will be a leisurely 10-day trip up the northeast coast of Spain, with occasional stops at fishing villages—where the honeymooners probably won't be recognized.

"And that's all right by us," the two chorused as they boarded a plane at Las Vegas, Nev., for Los Angeles Tuesday night.
Fisher said he was so nervous and happy that "I don't need a plane to get me there."
His schedule in Las Vegas was at jet age speed, but on the ground. At 1:30 p.m., he left his suite at the Tropicana Hotel and joined the Jewish War Veterans, Las Vegas branch, in a brief ceremony at the hotel's front door. Then a limousine sped him to the county courthouse, where in 10½ minutes he got a Nevada divorce from actress Debbie Reynolds, alleging mental cruelty.
A quick phone call brought Liz to join him in the marriage license bureau across the hall from the divorce court. Then, 3½ hours after the divorce, the two were wed in brief Jewish rites performed by two rabbis in a residential area synagogue.

Bill To Broaden School District Taxing Powers

HARRISBURG (AP) — School district taxing powers would be broadened under a Senate-passed bill approved by the House Education Committee.
The measure, sent to the floor Tuesday, for further action, would give all school districts the authority to levy additional taxes to pay school construction costs. In addition, it would grant to fourth class districts the same taxing privileges now available to second and third class districts.
The bill has long been sought by educators who maintain the present limitations on the fourth class districts are a financial hardship.
The districts number about 1,900 of the 2,300 districts in the state.
At present, they may not levy taxes above 35 mills of the real estate value in the district. In addition, the bill would give all the school districts authority to levy additional taxes to help pay for school building construction.
Philadelphia, which has a separate tax authorization from other school districts, is not covered by the measure.

STILLS IN ERIE COUNTY
State liquor agents swooped down on several Erie places Monday afternoon and confiscated two homemade distilleries which have allegedly been turning out "moonshine" for some time. In addition, city police assisting the LCB men charged one with carrying a concealed weapon, the other with a "numbers" violation.
State enforcement officer Andrew Lashinsky, in charge of Monday's crackdown, said the two stills were found on the second floor at 526 E. 15th. Also seized at the same address was about 50 gallons of mash, about three gallons of the finished liquor, and a quantity of grain and flour ready to be processed.

C. of C. Directors Hear Reports on New Parking Lots

The Warren Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, in regular session yesterday afternoon at the Blue and White restaurant, covered considerable ground to extend several pertinent projects.
The executive committee of the Retail Division plans to swing into immediate action to further solicitation and follow up on the funds needed to achieve added parking facilities in the business district. Work is already under way to provide two new spaces; one on the former Nulph property on Market street; the other being leveled on the island near the Hickory street bridge. To date 52 contributors have responded with a total of $4200. Borough council had been requested to allocate 10% of the $10,000 parking project, this matter having now been referred to the Finance committee. The Chamber group will confer with the council committee soon.
Stuart Myers reviewed all activities of the Flood Committee to date and announced that an invitation extended to the President of the Seneca Nation and council to meet with the local organization representatives to explain reasons for supporting the Kinzua Dam construction and to hear why the Seneca Indians had consistently favored all counter-proposals had been answered. The Senecas expressed a desire to hold the conference in Warren and bring Dr. Morgan, technical advisor to the Indians, with them. The Chamber Board hopes to discourage a meeting here. No date has been set for any consultation, however.
A report from the Education Committee contained information regarding a request to Industries for annual contributions to total $1500 and provide three $500 scholarships to first year students planning to enter the teaching profession. Allocations will be determined on need and ability and thirteen applications have already been received. The committee will continue to follow through on the plan.
The resignation of Vern Zellefrow, formerly with Metzger Wright's, was received with regret by the Board as was the retirement of Judge Alexander C. Flick, who had been serving as chairman of the National Affairs committee. F. F. McCallister, manager of J. C. Penney Co., was appointed to the Board to replace Mr. Zellefrow and members hope to persuade Judge Flick to continue in the position held.
On behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, Board members also went on record to express profound regrets upon the death of Neil Anderson, active many years in the organization.

This year's Jaycees Safe Driving Road-e-o promises to be one of the most outstanding events for teenagers during the year.
Driver Education instructors in Warren County's five high schools are busily engaged in registering contestants for the contest which will bring honors to the high school having the winner.
Prizes of $25, $15, and $10 will be awarded the top three scorers, with the first place winner receiving the Safe Driving Plaque for his or her high school. In addition, the winner becomes eligible to compete on a state-wide basis.
A win in the state finals sends the contestant on to Washington for national finals, where a total of $4500 in scholarship awards will be at stake.
Jaycees urge all teenagers to see their driver education instructors for details on taking part in this nation-wide Safe Driving event, or to fill out the entry form appearing in this paper and registering with the driver education instructors in any one of the five county high schools.

PIAA Editorial Offers Ways to Avoid Rowdiness

HARRISBURG (AP) — An editorial in the official publication of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Assn. suggests seven basic measures to prevent rowdiness at high school athletic contests.

The editorial published in the PIAA Tuesday stemmed from an incident involving the beating of Thomas Maher, 15, a Kingston High School pupil, by a gang of youths after the Chester - Farrell state championship basketball playoff at Philadelphia in March.

"A member school must seek ways to control those who endanger its program," the editorial stated. "The responsibility for bad behavior must be accepted by administration, players, coaches and students and the entire community."

It added, however, that any disciplinary action would have to be decided by the PIAA's district committee or board of control.

The PIAA is still considering whether to take such action against Chester High School.

Some of the remedies proposed in the editorial include:

- "1. The acceptance of the principle that regardless of the cause, the individual is responsible for his actions.
- "2. A return to disciplinary action and the right of those in authority to exercise it by parent, teacher or law enforcement agencies."
- "3. The acceptance of the idea that the public school is an educational institution and not a reformatory. Confirmed delinquents should not be permitted to interfere with the education of others. Those who show no inclination to profit by the school should be excluded."
- "4. A return by adults to habits of good behavior at public meetings, conventions, sports events and other gatherings."
- "5. An increased awareness by the public of the need for law enforcement and public support of police action."
- "6. The acceptance of parental obligations."
- "7. And in the case of inter-scholastic sports, a recognition by adults of the purposes of inter-scholastic sports. Undue emphasis by adults leads to undue emphasis by pupils."

Club Loft Lifts Ball

By DOW FINSTERWALD

(Nineteenth of a Series)

Make no deliberate effort to lift the ball into the air with the wedge.

The intent is to hit down on the ball. The extreme loft of the club face will cause the ball to rise sharply.

The ball is played from a position midway between the feet. The stance is open. Normally the hands lead the clubhead, but the more loft desired, the less this is true. The club ascends in a much more upright arc than when using the longer clubs. This is due partially to the shorter shaft.

Seventy-five per cent of the weight is on the left foot when playing a normal wedge shot. If you wish to play a so-called "drag" shot with pronounced backspin on the ball, place as much as 90 per cent of the weight on the left foot. The hands are well ahead of the ball at address and impact.

There is a lack of body motion.

Next: The fade shot.

Mates Continue To Give Daniels Sloppy Support

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bennie Daniels of the Pittsburgh Pirates is one pitcher who can justifiably claim non-support.

Daniels lost to the San Francisco Giants Monday night due largely to errors by his mates. He almost lost again Tuesday for the same reason.

The Pirates exploded for three runs in the top of the 12th to beat the Giants 6-5. But they almost threw the game away in the last half of the same inning.

The Giants came back for two runs on three consecutive Pirate errors and two singles before the game ended.

Daniels, the last of three Pirate pitchers, got credit for his first major league victory.

The Pirates scored the winning runs on a double by Dick Stuart, a single by Billy Mazaroski, a single by Dick Groat, two walks and a single by Roberto Clemente.

The Giants took a 1-0 lead in the third inning on a home run by Jim Davenport. But the Pirates came back in the seventh to get two runs off Giant starter John Antonelli.

The Pirates scored again in the eighth on a single, followed by a smashing double off the hot bat of Smokey Burgess. The Giants tied the game in the eighth on a base on balls, a double by Willie Mays and a single by Jackie Brandt.

Gordon Jones was charged with his second loss of the season against one victory.

Bonus Baby Leads Senators In Most Batting Categories

By ED WILKS

Two months ago Harmon Killebrew figured he'd have a successful year if he stayed with the Washington Senators all season.

At the moment he leads the American League in home runs, with a dozen; in runs batted in, with 28, and in runs scored, with 26.

In five previous tries with the Senators, since he became their first bonus baby in 1954, his total home run output was only 11, his RBI total was 30 and he had scored just 29 runs.

The 22-year-old third baseman, junked Washington's losing skein at three games Tuesday night, driving in five runs with a pair of homers for a 7-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

That left the surprising Senators fourth, three games behind Cleveland's first place Indians, who defeated the New York Yankees 7-6. Chicago's White Sox retained second place, 1½ games back, with a 4-3, 12-inning victory at Boston. Kansas City's game at Baltimore was rained out.

Unbeaten Cal McLish won his fifth for the Indians, who made it with the help of four unearned runs. Rocky Colavito, who had four hits, and Woody Held batted for the Indians against loser Art Ditmar (1-2). Mickey Mantle, Elston Howard and Yogi Berra homered for the Yanks before McLish, 33, gave way to the heat and humidity at New York.

Rookie Jim Perry saved it, blanking the champs on one hit while striking out four over the last two frames.

Cleveland's winning run was set up in the fifth on an error by Berra — who had set a major league record for catches in his last game with a string of 148 errorless games since July 28, 1957.

All the White Sox runs came on homers. Starting right - hander Dick Donovan hit a two-run shot in the second inning and Al Smith put an end to nine scoreless frames for Chicago with a two-run homer in the 12th off losing reliever Murray Wall (1-1). Rookie Rodolfo Arias (2-0) was the winner, although giving up Jackie Jensen's eighth homer in the Boston 12th.

Los Angeles Dodgers Come Up With Four Wins in a Row

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
A four-game winning streak isn't much, but in the National League it means first place.

The Los Angeles Dodgers won their fourth in a row Tuesday night, beating Philadelphia 3-1 behind the five-hit pitching of young Danny McDevitt. That gave the Dodgers a half-game lead over Milwaukee although the two clubs are tied percentage-wise (.600).

The Braves lost 7-3 to the Chicago Cubs.

St. Louis kept Cincinnati from making it a virtual three-way tie by beating the Reds 7-4. Pittsburgh defeated San Francisco 6-5 in 12 innings.

No one has been able to put together more than a four-game string in the National League.

The Dodgers now have won seven of their last 10, and McDevitt has two of the three complete games the pitching staff has produced in that span. The 26-year-old lefty (2-1) had a two-hit shutout until the eighth inning when Willie Jones hit his seventh home run. McDevitt walked none, fanned six.

The Cubs handed five-game winner Lew Burdette his second loss in a row, scoring five in the ninth at Chicago on a home run by Walt Moryn and pinch hitter Earl Averill's first grand slam. Tony Taylor also homered off Burdette. Don Elston (1-1) won it with one inning of scoreless relief.

Rookie right-hander Gary Blaylock hit a two-run homer and won his first for the Cards, although needing Bill Smith's relief after Vada Pinson's two-run double finished the Reds' scoring in the seventh. Brooks Lawrence (3-2) was the loser after winning three in a row.

The Pirates, shut out on three hits for six innings by Johnny Antonelli, put it away with three runs in the 12th. Gordon Jones (1-2), fourth of six Giant pitchers, was the loser. Bennie Daniels, who lost his first decision as a starter Monday night, won this one in relief, although roughed up for two runs in the 12th on two singles and three errors. Two of the boots were by Bob Clemente, whose single proved the clincher for the Pirates.

Boating Bill Studied

Approximately 70,000 power-driven pleasure boats in Pennsylvania would be licensed and subjected to commonwealth controls beginning in the summer of 1960, if a bill now before Pennsylvania legislature is passed. The proposed act would require all boats be registered in a system devised by federal government and would make mandatory the reporting of all accidents and maintenance of proper safety equipment. Proposed $5 annual registration fee for boat owners would produce an estimated $300,000 a year to finance state patrolling of Pennsylvania waters.

HUNTING CASUALTIES

Number of persons who shot themselves or others last year while hunting wildlife in Pennsylvania (480) was fewer by 23 than in 1957. But of that total the number of fatalities (27—all by firearms) was 4 higher than the 23 yearly average for previous ten years. There is little doubt, say persons who have studied the facts surrounding hunter shooting incidents, that common sense, self-control and respect for the potentials of the instrument used would prevent most of the self-shooting and the injury or death of others in the hunting field.

More Information About Gavin Fish Hatchery Measure

As announced in an Associated Press dispatch on page one of Tuesday's issue a bill to authorize construction of a fish hatchery in northwest Pennsylvania—a location hanging on construction of the Kinzua Dam, was approved by a House Fisheries Subcommittee at Washington yesterday.

The project, estimated at $800,000, now will go before the floor of the House for action and Congressman Leon Gavin said he anticipates favorable action by House and Senate.

The bill, he explained, is an "authorization bill." Rep. Gavin initiated the bill which passed the House last year. He said "I anticipated that we would need such hatchery facilities when the Kinzua Dam materializes—to stock the great reservoir adequately."

"We have no particular location in mind at this time but it will be adjacent to the reservoir which will be one of the largest bodies of water of its kind in the east. We can no longer expand our facilities at the Farnsworth hatchery in Warren County and to meet demands of the heavy fishing pressure on national forest streams, we must prepare to meet the tremendous recreational potential that is possible through the Allegheny Reservoir."

"We have streams of fresh, pure, sparkling cold water to provide ample supplies for a hatchery," he said. Congressman Gavin did not comment on previously reported plans for the hatcheries in the Allegheny National Forest area—one below the site of the dam for pike, bass and muskies—others above the dam for trout. Water temperatures and many other factors are involved—but studies along this line have been made.

Big Ed Welsh To Celebrate 78th Birthday Thursday

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Edward A. (Big Ed) Welsh, one of baseball's greatest pitchers, will celebrate his 78th birthday Thursday and he figures that, cancer and all, "I've got a few innings of living left."

A year ago, everybody thought the old Hall of Famer member's days were numbered. Today, his chances of complete recovery remain dubious.

"But I'm looking at things better now," the one-time scourge of the American League told a visiting reporter. "I'm still good for a few more innings."

Big Ed's career began 55 years ago and ended nine years later. In 1908, his darting, slipping pitches won 40 games for the Chicago White Sox.

Now bedridden, he remains wrapped up in the sport that brought him fame. While winning 195 of 311 games, he established a reputation as a great spitball pitcher, and he admits that if he was pitching today he would be a "cheating spitballer."

Walsh has long opposed the spitball ban.

Expert at Farr's

Eddie Woods, champion fly and spin easter, will conduct a clinic on fly and spin casting from Farr's Sporting Goods store at 3 Prospect street Tuesday. Woods will hold two demonstrations, one at 2 p. m. and another at 5 p. m. He will be at the store, long one of Warren sportsmen's favorite headquarters, from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. during which time he will answer questions and discuss the anglers' problems.

Thomas Withdraws Action; To Start Over

BOSTON (AP)—John Thomas, the sensational 18-year-old high jumper who is recovering satisfactorily from a skin graft on his left foot, has withdrawn from Boston University until next fall when he also plans to resume competition. Thomas said Tuesday, he definitely is out of the National AAU meet June 19.

He caught his foot in an elevator door March 24.

Thomas is walking on crutches in Massachusetts Memorial Hospital.

"The doctor won't say when I can get out of here," he said, "so I've decided to withdraw from school and start over again in the fall. I've missed too much to make up now."

SECTION II THINCLADS VIE FOR HONORS TODAY

Titusville Rockets are high on the admiration list of Section II track squads as they meet in Corry today for the championship run, weather permitting.

Other five Section II track and field squads, Warren, Meadville, Corry, Franklin and Oil City, are conscious of the Rockets' inspiration from their victory in the invitational meet in Youngsville last weekend.

Titusville is expected to go all-out to capture laurels in today's title bid.

As one scribe explained the competition, "there is so much top talent among the contending teams that it will be surprising if one school cops more than two events."

One fan has predicted a possible win for either Corry, Meadville or Franklin. Titusville is the darkest horse among rest of field.

Warren Dragons, coached by Loyal Briggs, will enter the title meet with a 2 and 6 record.

Class B at Youngsville

Eight teams will invade the new Youngsville High athletic field Saturday for annual PIAA District 10 Class B track and field meet.

Beside Youngsville Eagles, visiting teams are Eisenhower; Northwestern High, Albion; Union High, Girard, Commodore Joint, Fredonia, Pa.; Mercer High; Rocky Grove; and Lawrence Park.

Field events and trials are scheduled to begin at 10 a. m., running event finals slated for 2 p. m., H. J. Sherwood, member of District 10 PIAA committee and Principal at Youngsville High, announced today.

"Officials in charge of the meet anticipate an excellent meet because of the apparent strength of the various Class B teams this year," Sherwood explained.

Winners of the Class B meet will travel to Penn State on May 23 to participate in the State track and field competition.

Raiders Outrun Knights On NA Cinders For Second Win, 60-48

Footmen or Northern Area were trampled by Jamestown tracksters as the Knights fell before the Raiders 60 to 48 at Eisenhower High Tuesday.

Jamestown, in securing their second win in three starts, gave Northern Area their fifth loss in eight meets.

Raiders crossed under the tape for five of the eight running events, but Knights proved stronger on the field, taking three out of five and tying for one.

Denny Owens in 100 yard dash, Marv Work's 220 victory and the Knight medley of Bob Darts, Steve Giotz, Marv Work and Bob Martin, scored the three cinder wins.

Pole vault height of Ken Williams, Darts distance in shotput and Denny Owens' leap in broad jump were good for Knight wins in field play.

Northern Area's Al Ludwick and Jun Gaeta of Jamestown, tied in 180-low hurdles, while Knight Ron Sherrard and Dave Chase of the Raiders, deadlocked in high jump.

Williams Has A Poor Opener: Hits Sure To Come

BOSTON (AP)—"I'll be all right, the hits will come," Ted Williams was not disappointed Tuesday night after going 9-for-5 in his first appearance of the 1959 season for the Boston Red Sox.

The 40-year-old defending American League batting champion, coming off a neck and shoulder ailment which had forced him out of action since March, said:

"I'm satisfied with my efforts for my first game back. I'm not tired. In fact I feel real good," he said after playing in the home forces' 4-3, 12-inning loss to Chicago which lasted 4 hours, 23 minutes.

"My problem was that I was hitting bad pitches," Ted added. He struck out twice, popped up to the infield, drew an intentional walk and twice grounded out.

Veteran Dupas Vs. Rugged Scott Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Ralph Dupas of New Orleans, a veteran of 92 fights although only 23 years old, is a slight favorite to pad his winning record against rugged Charley Scott tonight.

The welterweight 10-round in Chicago Stadium will be televised (ABC, 9 p. m. EST) and scored under the five-point must system.

Scott, 22-year-old Philadelphia puncher, is seeking his fifth straight victory. He has won 22, losing only 2 and battling to 7 draws.

Scott is ranked seventh on the welterweight ladder by both the National Boxing Assn. and Ring magazine. Dupas, with a 75-11-6 record, is rated No. 2 by the NBA and No. 4 by Ring.

Letters to Editor

Editor Times-Mirror: The dental examinations of 868 Warren City school children in the first, third and seventh grades revealed 2,648 defective teeth. The examinations were conducted by Dr. L. W. Krespan, School Dentist during the school year Sept. 1957 — June 1958 according to Dr. Clayton A. Junker, Regional Public Health Dentist, Region III, Pennsylvania State Department of Health.

These examinations revealed that 1,512 teeth had been filled and 210 teeth had been extracted. It was also discovered that 2,470 additional teeth were in need of filling and 178 required extraction.

The cost of the dental corrections which had been made amounted approximately to $7,000.00 and the estimated cost of correcting the remaining defective teeth is about $11,000.00. The total cost to the parents of the above children would have amounted to approximately $18,000.00 had all the defects been remedied.

However, had the City of Warren fluoridated their drinking water some time ago the $18,000 dental bill could have been reduced to $6,480 representing a saving of $13,260 per pupil. In other words, the money that was actually spent would have taken care of all the dental defects in these children had the benefits of fluoridation been provided.

It must be remembered that these 868 school children represent only three of the twelve grades or about 29% of the total City school population. If the remaining 71% of the children have an equal number of dental defects, approximately $70,000.00 would have to be spent to correct them.

The adoption of this great public health measure would give the children of Warren an opportunity to help protect their teeth against the ravages of decay at no cost to their City or to their parents. Let the City of Warren get in the big parade with the 112 other communities in Pennsylvania who have already accepted fluoridation by urging your Councilman to vote favorably on this issue.

President Eisenhower probably would say "yes" to such a request. The President would have no alternative, many officials believe, now that the Soviets have agreed to allow Vice President Richard M. Nixon to open an American National Exposition in Moscow July 25.

Khrushchev has made no official move yet to set up an American visit. But Soviet authorities in Moscow have said it known that "a senior official" undoubtedly would go to New York to open the Soviet exhibit.

The Soviets are believed holding off a decision as to whom to send until they see how much progress the foreign ministers meeting in Geneva makes in setting a time and place for a summit conference.

Red Stand

Lloyd all turned down the proposition Tuesday.

The Western ministers offered Gromyko a compromise, however: To let the two Communist nations and Italy and probably one or two other Western states enter the parley at some later time.

But Gromyko said through a spokesman the success of the conference was hinged to bringing in the Polish and Czech foreign ministers as full members at once. He demanded "a positive decision" and made clear he wanted it today.

Western informants reported that Herter and his allies have no intention of backing down on the issue. They offered a limited compromise. Poland, Czechoslovakia and one or more other nations can be invited to the conference later for discussion of such questions as European security measures.

Ike Calls

come the Kremlin's No. 1 man to the United States if Khrushchev requested an invitation, Eisenhower replied with a smile that we had better just wait and see on that one.

ANSWER IS FILED BY SIRE LAWYER

Warren M. Stone, representing Frothnotary Ralph E. Sires in the lengthy proceedings launched when County Commissioner Blaine Mead and Lewis Crippen petitioned the court for a re-audit of specific books from the prothonotary's office, this week filed an answer regarding said petition to deny, deny and request further proof of items listed in content. Richard Leuthold, county solicitor will be allowed sufficient time to reply to the answer now filed to plead new matters or possibly present a new petition regarding accounts in question. Until such legal proceedings are completed in their natural order, it is impossible to set a date for an additional hearing.

found the chance he was waiting. He struck the gun assailant, captured Walters and placed him under arrest.

Walters was jailed for a hearing on charges of assault, resisting arrest, pointing firearms and disorderly conduct.

Jail Sentence Given Local Man by Court

Robert Collins of 8 Monroe street, pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of minors when he appeared before Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr., this morning.

Collins was fined $50, ordered to pay costs of the prosecution and sentenced to 30 days in the county lockup. Judge Flick advised the defendant a possible parole would be considered after five days have been served.

Another hearing before the court without a jury in the case of Nicholas Tenuis, of Elbon, charged with resisting arrest, continued in an afternoon session today.

Big Airliner

Marshall, was credited with getting many passengers out of the flaming wreckage. She forced open a door after several passengers had been unable to push it open.

"It's not a door that swings out," she explained. "It's a sliding door. All I did was roll it back."

The air tragedy near Baltimore came without warning.

Walter Bevans, 70, had just been driven from the yard to the porch by the late afternoon thunderstorm.

"I started inside the house," he said, "and then I saw this terrible light and smoke. I saw this man lying in the field. I ran back into the house and told my daughter-in-law to call for ambulances."

"I saw one big piece of the plane burning in the air, and there was smoke coming from two other parts which sort of drifted off and away."

Not far away, a group of youngsters were playing ball. Suddenly debris and bodies began falling all around them. They ran for home — and cover.

Pieces of the Viscount were scattered for more than a mile. It took more than three hours for droves of police and volunteers to collect the bodies. The last found was a stewardess, buried under one of the sections.

The four engines were found within a few hundred yards. The propeller of one was missing.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A four-engine airliner touching down for a landing during a light rain skidded over a 200-foot embankment and burned Tuesday, killing two of the 44 persons aboard.

The Capital Airlines Constellation plunged tail-first to the bottom of the embankment. The crash occurred at 3:26 p. m. as the plane landed at mountain-top Kanawha Airport on Flight 983 bound from Rochester, Buffalo and Pittsburgh for Atlanta.

Twenty-eight other passengers and crew members were taken to hospitals. All but six were released after treatment or examination.

Roadblock Raised on Promotion of Dillon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) raised a road block today to speedy Senate approval of C. Douglas Dillon's promotion to the No. 2 spot in the State Department.

When Dillon's nomination reached the Senate floor, Long said, "I may speak for a day, or even two days, to illustrate why we have spent so many billions in other countries and in some instances gotten nothing but hatred in return, under the type of leadership represented by Mr. Dillon."

Long is the only announced opponent of the nomination, which was received with enthusiasm Tuesday by most of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Tomy Lee is second foreign-born horse to win Kentucky Derby. First was Omar Khayyam in 1917.

Joe Massa Improves in Jamestown Hospital

A spokesman for WCA Hospital in Jamestown said today that Joseph A. Massa, of 302 Morrison street, spent a "real good" night last evening and is in an "improved" condition today. Mr. Massa was given food this morning and ate "well". Sheriff's office in Mayville, New York, investigators of the mishap Monday evening which claimed the life of Mrs. Helen Massa and sent the Warren High instructor and a Buffalo man to hospitals, said results of the investigation are not complete. Details on an autopsy performed on Mrs. Massa Tuesday in Jamestown were not available today, but Coroner Sam Bowe issued a certificate of accidental death just before press time.
